be held at The Homestead April 15-16. Topics to be presented will give you help on how to look and feel better from head to toe!

Have you wanted to learn more about the principles of aerobics and swimnastics as a means of trimming up and getting excellent exercise? Valerie Cowan from Oakley will conduct demonstrations and discussions on these two popular activities. Be sure to bring your bathing suit and exercise outfits as you will be participating.

A new hairstyle and fresh approach to make-up is a great way for any woman to take pride in her appearance. Stylists Gary Call, Andrea Hurley and Janice Rogers from the Mark IV Salon in Park City will show new ways to wear your hair and help you to decide what style is best for you depending on your hair texture, facial structure and lifestyle.

Be treated to a face design demonstration and learn make-up tips and techniques from Klis Hale of Walt Lake. Klis represents LeVoy Cosmetics and helped develop their cosmetic product line.

Cathy Falkner of Mark IV Salon will conduct a workshop on basic nail care which includes a demonstration on those beautiful China Silk Wraps. You can have those beautiful nails that won't break!

An overall look at mental and physical health is to be approached by Becky Pappas of the USU Extension Service. Becky will conduct sessions on "Total Wellness" (nutrition, fitness, self-esteem), Stress Management and Time Management.

Does your wardrobe look "tired" and seem not quite right? Do you want to learn the secrets of the well-dressed woman? The well-dressed person has learned to put all the different parts and pieces of an outfit together so there is unity and harmony in color, texture, line and shape. Karen Peterson and Julia Hoggon of Salt Lake City and Becky Pappas will conduct a complete program for you including a capsule wardrobe fashion show to be featured during the Monday dinner banquet.
